Rabbi Damsky lives in Melrose Park, IL. She is currently the Rabbi at Aimes Jewish Congregation in Aimes, IA, and she has previously served as the Rabbi of West Suburban Temple Har Zion in River Forest, IL and Congregation Or Chadash in Scottsdale, AZ. Rabbi Damsky was ordained by the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies in 2006 and earned her Masters of Education in 1996 from the Jewish Theological Seminary.

Rabbi Damsky has many years of experience in formal education, as principal of the Harry Elkin Midrasha Community High School in Providence, RI, and by teaching students of all ages. Rabbi Damsky's background includes a BFA in dance. She founded In the Gardens, which is a project started in the Chicago area in response to the need for fresh, healthy organic food in the inner-city and beyond. She is the co-author of Find, Fulfill, Flourish, an inspiring book of stories with guidance and practical tools for leading a fulfilling and purpose-guided life. Rabbi Damsky is also a proud mother to her daughter, Sarah, who recently began her career in the Jewish non-profit world.

We hope you will take advantage and join us throughout the weekend, as there will be many occasions to meet Rabbi Damsky:

Rabbi Falk is currently the spiritual leader of Beth El Synagogue in Woodbury, Connecticut where she has "encouraged a culture of kindness" that has doubled membership. She founded an innovative school in which children and parents learn together, increasing their knowledge and love of being Jewish. On a national level, Rabbi Falk is a fellow with Rabbis Without Borders (RWB) at The Jewish Center for Learning and Leadership, a leadership training institute, think tank and resource center. She is proud to blog for Rabbis Without Borders on myjewishlearning.com.

Rabbi Falk attained her ordination at the Academy of Jewish Religion in Yonkers, NY, where she was twice awarded the Herschel J. Matt Creative Liturgy Award. She serves on the boards of several Jewish and community organizations, and as a hospital chaplain at Yale-New Haven and Saint Raphael Hospitals. Before ordination, she served as the communications director for Jewish Federation of Greater New Haven, and the Anti-Defamation League of New Haven. Her husband, artist Alan Falk, and their family bring her great joy.

We hope you will take advantage and join us throughout the weekend, as there will be many occasions to meet Rabbi Falk:
